🐢 Timmy the Brave Little Turtle 🐢

Once upon a time, in a sparkling blue pond, there lived a tiny turtle named Timmy. Timmy had a shiny green shell and loved to watch the dragonflies dance above the water.

But there was one problem — Timmy was afraid to swim across the pond. "What if I get lost?" he would say. So, he stayed near the edge and watched the other animals play.

One sunny day, Timmy saw his friend Daisy the duck stuck in the middle of the pond. She had dropped her favorite feather and was too sad to swim back.

Timmy's heart began to beat fast. He was scared... but he wanted to help his friend.

"I can do it!" Timmy said. He took a deep breath, closed his eyes, and SPLASH! — he jumped into the water.

He paddled with his little feet. Left... right... left... right… and guess what?

He made it!

Daisy smiled, "Timmy, you're so brave!"

Timmy gave her the feather and smiled proudly. From that day on, Timmy wasn't afraid to swim anymore. He even raced with the fish and played water tag with the frogs!

And every time he felt a little scared, he remembered the day he helped a friend — and became the brave little turtle.

The End.
